Up until now, we have been looking at Software

Engineering at a high level.

During the rest of the course we are going to take a more detailed look at the major phases of software development life cycles: